We use 'FirstClass' as an email client, from this mail can only be saved/exported in .RTF format. Is it possible to use mail saved (individually) in this format to build a database? I have collected the spam in the folder C:\Program Files\No Spam Today!\sa\SPAM any help with the required command prompt for sa-learn would be appreciated.

If I'm not mistaken, the answer is "no". To avoid repeating myself, please see my post in the other thread. I noted several points and a good email client to be used generally or just for training SA.
