How or where is the default prefs path defined ?

Command Line:

spamassassin --remove-addr-from-whitelist nobody@nowhere.de

Messages:

[2644] warn: config: can not determine default prefs path
```

[2644] warn: config: failed to create default user preference file C:\Dokumente und
Einstellungen\USER\.spamassassin/user_prefs

Please specify the configuration path like this: -c sa\ruleset.

I don't get it working.

What's the exact syntax ?

spamassassin -c e:\nst\sa\ruleset --remove-addr-from-whitelist nobody@nowhere.de ( same failure message )
spamassassin --remove-addr-from-whitelist -c e:\nst\sa\ruleset nobody@nowhere.de ( same failure message )

The -c option at the end ?

Please try this:

1. Open a command line window and change to the NST installation directory.
  2. sa\spamassassin.exe -c sa\ruleset --remove-addr-from-whitelist nobody@nowhere.de

Same failure message:

E:\NST>sa\spamassassin -c sa\ruleset --remove-addr-from-whitelist nobod@nowhere.
de
[1420] warn: config: can not determine default prefs path
[1420] warn: config: failed to create default user preference file C:\Dokumente
und Einstellungen\RAK\.spamassassin/user_prefs

SpamAssassin auto-whitelist: removing address: nobod@nowhere.de

However,
it works, ( at least, looks like )
but the failure messages appear.
