Prior to uploading to the internet, I test PHP programs which send mail using the Mail (function.

I presume this uses the O/S SENDMAIL command. I try to test these programs by directing mail from/to my local domain, but always receive a

HTTP: (receive) Connection reset by client and the mail is never received. This only started when I implemented NoSpamToday.

It would cause serious downtime if I had to do testing on the production sites.

Any help?

Thank you.
