
Subject: turning off all filter to one incoming user

Posted by Benjamin Nierman on Thu, 02 Sep 2004 13:04:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi- Is there anyway to shut off the filters (allow any inbound mail) to one particular mail id. We have been having a lot of problems with our Job recruitment mail box rejecting a lot of stuff. At this point our hr dept is willing to forgo filtering to that box. Is this possible? Thanks.

Subject: Re: turning off all filter to one incoming user

Posted by support on Thu, 02 Sep 2004 14:05:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

> Hi- Is there anyway to shut off the filters (allow any > inbound mail) to one particular mail id. We have been having a > lot of problems with our Job recruitment mail box rejecting a > lot of stuff. At this point our hr dept is willing to forgo > filtering to that box. Is this possible? Thanks.

Just add a line like

```
whitelist_to      recipient@domain.com
```

to your local.cf file (located in the sa\ruleset subdirectory of the NoSpamToday! installation directory). This will whitelist this recipient address.

Post Edited (09-02-04 16:07)
