

---

Subject: Command line exit code is 128

Posted by SloppyB on Wed, 26 Oct 2005 16:03:02 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Alot of spam is coming through unranked entirely lately. When I look in the log file, the unranked spam will go through the delay filter fine, In fact it does everything fine until the Anti-virus scan. Both the Anti-virus and Spamassasin will say:

Command line exit code is 128

Incoming mail action: accept/deliver (unknown result)

This is not happening on all e-mail though. Does anyone know what Command line exit code 128 is, or what I need to adjust to get this working properly?

---

---

Subject: Re: Command line exit code is 128

Posted by support on Thu, 27 Oct 2005 16:09:49 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

This might be the problem with UTF-8-encoded messages we fixed last week. Please update to the latest version.

If this does not fix the problem, please enable "log filter error output" (File -> Global Settings). With this setting enabled, there will be more info about the problem in the log file.

---