I had downloaded the Trial Version of NoSpam Today for Workstations a month ago. It has expired and I placed my order on-line. The order was completed and the message on the receipt said to bring up the Register window to enter my key. Where is the Register window? The program still says Expired.

Find the No Spam Today! icon in the system tray (in the lower right corner of your desktop, near the clock). Bring up the popup menu by clicking the right mouse button while over the icon, and choose the "Register" item. If you are using Windows XP: Windows XP in its default configuration may hide the NoSpamToday! icon. To make it reappear, press the small arrow near the clock.
